I request permission to INSPECT estate/archive materials (Please fill in the "Order form for materials from the estates and archives of the International Youth Library").

I undertake to comply with the Regulations of Use of Estate Materials in the International Youth Library in Munich. In particular, I undertake to observe the copyrights and personality rights when exploiting the materials. I am also obliged not to reproduce or distribute or to have reproduced or distributed unpublished materials (even those reproduced by the International Youth Library to a limited extent), either in full or in extract form or as citations, in print, in images, on electronic data carriers or in data networks, without the consent of the International Youth Library Foundation in Munich. It is not allowed for users to reproduce archive materials.

Moreover, I undertake to obtain the permission from the copyright owner (possibly also of the personality rights) before each exploitation (part printout, complete printout, replay, in the case of unpublished texts: any kind of citation) of materials protected by copyright and personality rights. I must submit such to the International Youth Library Foundation in Munich together with an application to publish.

Materials (manuscripts, letters etc.) from authors still alive and to correspondence partners still alive and concerning third parties cannot be made available unless approved by those concerned. Appropriate written authorisations must be submitted to the International Youth Library Foundation in Munich.

The materials must be handled with care and returned in the order they were presented. It is forbidden to make any removals, highlights, underlines, crossings out, rubbings out, cut-outs or photographing etc. The users are obliged to report any damage or defects immediately. If a report is not made, it is assumed that the materials have been handed out in perfect condition. The material is examined by the reading room employees upon its return.

As a general rule, materials may not be removed from the study room or passed on to other users.

Archival materials must be returned in case the workplace if left for a longer period as well as 15 minutes before the study library closes.

If archive material is exploited, users undertake to present a copy example at no charge to the International Youth Library of all publications and their later editions or post-exploitations as soon as these appear.

The publication must name the International Youth Library Foundation as the owner of the archives and as the holder of the exploitation rights.

I am aware that I can or even will be pursued for default, compensation of damages and possibly for crimes if I fail to comply with this obligation and infringe copyrights and personality rights. In case of non-compliance with this obligation and the legal regulations, I am liable for all infringements. I furthermore expressly release Stiftung Internationale Jugendbibliothek from any liability that can be caused by my actions.

The user contract comes into being with permission of use, without this requiring a formal declaration of acceptance.
